TODD COUNTY YOUNGSTERS ORGANIZE NEW CALF CLUB

Organization of the Todd County Jersey Calf Club has been completed with fourteen charter members who will purchase purebred heifers in the near future and start developing them as their projects, according to a report of E. M. Prewitt, the dairy extension specialist of the College of Agriculture. Members of the club will carry on the work of developing a dairy herd of their own under the direction of the college extension division and County Agent L. C. Graddy, who assisted in its organization.

Don't think people don't notice: They always do.

Paris promised us longer skirts this fall, but evidently they have been lost in transit.

Of course it is none of our business. But when a young girl marries an old man, the stock of affinities is not reduced so you could notice it.

CANCER WEEK

Every county medical society in Kentucky will hold a symposium on cancer during the week from October 30 to November 5 as part of Kentucky's observance of "Cancer Week," Dr. Irvin Linderberger, state chairman of the committee that is co-operating with the American Society for the Control of Cancer, announced at Louisville today.

"While thousands of persons are dying every year of this dread disease," he said, "it is curable if detected in its earlier stages. Carrying knowledge of this fact to the people of Kentucky is one of the objects of the present campaign. The other object is to emphasize the fact that, where this early diagnosis has been had, the person suffering immediately should obtain the best medical treatment procurable.

"Any unnatural lump or hardness is to be regarded as potential cancer until proved by competent examination to be otherwise. That is especially true of the breast, abdomen, lips and mouth. Any enlargement or tumor in any portion of the body which can be detected by sight or touch, which persists and which increases in extent, should be subjected to examination by those competent to make it.

"Cancer invariably begins as a local disease and if recognized at this stage can surely and permanently be cured if accessible. Any unnatural discharges from the internal organs, especially at and after the age of 35, should be regarded with special suspicion."

The way Congress is dancing it seems that they are letting appropriations be unconfined.

A Mystery Cake

Can you name it?

Here is another new Royal Cake, so delicious and appetizing that we have been unable to give it a name that does justice to its unusual qualities. It can be made just right only with Royal Baking Powder. Will you make it and name it?

$500 for the Best Names

For the name selected as best, we will pay $250. For the second, third, fourth, and fifth choice, we will pay $100, $75, $50, and $25 respectively.

Anyone may enter the contest, but only one name from each person will be considered.

All names must be received by December 15th, 1921. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Do not send your cake. Simply send the name you suggest, with your own name and address, to the

ROYAL BAKING POWDER COMPANY
149 William Street, New York

How to make it

Use level measurements for all materials

1/2 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
Grated rind of 1/2 orange
1 egg and 1 yolk
2 1/2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup milk
1 1/2 squares (1 1/2 ozs.) of unsweetened chocolate (melted)
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening. Add sugar and grated orange rind. Add beaten egg yolks. Sift together flour, salt and Royal Baking Powder and add alternately with the milk; lastly fold in unsweetened chocolate. Divide batter into two parts. To one part add the chocolate. Put by tablespoonfuls, alternating dark and light batter, into three greased layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes.

FILLING AND ICING

3 tablespoons melted butter
3 cups confectioner's sugar
(Powdered sugar may be used but does not make as smooth icing)
Grated rind of 1/2 orange and pulp of 1 orange

2 tablespoons orange juice
1 egg white
3 squares (3 ozs.) unsweetened chocolate
Put butter, sugar, orange juice and rind into bowl. Cut pulp from orange, removing skin and seeds, and add. Beat all together until smooth. Fold in beaten egg white. Spread this icing on layer used for top of cake. While icing is soft, sprinkle with unsweetened chocolate shaved in fine pieces with sharp knife (use 1/2 square). To remaining icing add 2 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate which has been melted. Spread this thickly between layers and on sides of cake.

MARION FARMERS FIRST TO REPLACE ALL SCRUBS

Marion county farmers are the first ones in Kentucky to rid their farms of scrub cattle sires in the drive being conducted over the state for improved livestock, the last scrub having been disposed of with fitting ceremonies, according to a report from County Agent Childress. The county now has 92 registered sires and 34 of good breeding. Farmers who are the owners of high-grade sires are planning to improve their stock further by replacing them with registered animals, according to the report.

The replacement of scrubs with animals of good breeding has been the result of a systematic drive conducted by the farmers of the county in co-operation with the county agent and the extension division of the College of Agriculture. The drive was started in the spring of this year when a survey which was made in each school district in the county showed a total of 120 sires, 70 of which were purebreds and 50 scrubs or grades. Sentiment was immediately raised in opposition to scrub sires by means of meetings held in different parts of the county to which business men, farmers and cattle breeders were invited. Breeders in the county agreed to sell pure bred animals at a reasonable price to farmers who would eliminate the scrub sires from their farms and from that time on the downfall of inferior breeding animals was made rapid.

They say that money is becoming loose. In our case it has always been that way, and we have never been able to make it stick to us for any length of time.

HOPKINS FARMERS PLAN FOR FEATURE FARM FAIR

With all plans practically completed the Hopkins County Agricultural Fair and Exposition to be held at Madisonville is expected to be even more elaborate than the first one held last year, according to reports coming from the county. The show will be held under the auspices of the Madisonville Chamber of Commerce, which is co-operating with County Agent Morris Gordon, Hopkins county farmers and interested organizations in promoting the agricultural and stock breeding interests of the county.

Classes have been provided for colts, garden and orchard products, grains, needlework, canned goods, poultry, cattle, sheep and hogs. The poultry show, which will be held by the county poultry association, is expected to be one of the features of the fair. The auction sale of 250 White Wyandotte pullets on the last day of the fair is expected to be another feature of the event. The sale will be one of twenty-one to be held under the direction of the College of Agriculture as a part of the poultry standardization campaign being conducted over the state. Farmers who received hatching eggs in the spring through the co-operation of their county banks will return one pullet for each setting of eggs to pay for them.
